UpsideContract Given the Thumbs Up by a Leading Industry Analyst

Upside Software's UpsideContract featured in an Article by a Leading Industry Analyst.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, CANADA —Upside Software Inc., the global leader in enterprise contract management software, is proud to announce it has been featured by Forrester's Patrick Connaughton, after a recent review of Upside Software's comprehensive product suite.

"What Upside is selling directly maps to the points I hear about on a daily basis from readers – namely, the need for a CLM solution vendor that gives top priority to usability, successful implementations, and end-user adoption." said Forrester's Patrick Connaughton. The article goes on to showcase a few of the many reasons why Upside Software's product suite goes over and above the requirements of industry professionals.

"It's always an honor for us to demonstrate why Upside Software performs as well as it does." said Ashif Mawji, President & CEO, Upside Software. "By showing the software in action, we can not only speak to the various features of our software but provide tangible, real-time visual examples of key functionality. The features we introduce are as a direct result of the insight we receive from our customers, prospects, analysts and industry associations."
